ATWATER-DONNELLY; Friday, January 4th; 8pm

This duo from Rhode Island has performed throughout the US, and their many albums have received international airplay. Aubrey and Ellwood have presented and researched folk music extensively in New England, Ireland, England, Prince Edward Island, the Ozarks and Appalachia. They perform traditional ballads, original works, dance tunes, gospel and old time songs, including a capella pieces, all with wonderful harmonies. Aubrey Atwater plays banjo, guitar, tin whistle and mountain dulcimer. Elwood Donnelly plays guitar, harmonica and a variety of percussion instruments including monkey pods, bones, spoons, bodhran and limber jack. They explain song origins and create a humorous and relaxed stage presence. Audience participation is strongly encouraged.

Presented with the cooperation of Polytechnic University: Admission: $10 (members, $9, Polytech students & staff free). At: Polytechnic University, Wunsch Hall, just over the Brooklyn or Manhattan bridges in Brooklyn; right off the Tillary St. exit from the BQE. (See map, page 10.) By train: A, C, F (Jay St.-Borough Hall) and M, N, R (Lawrence Street) are closest. #2, 3, 4, 5 are five min. walk (Borough Hall). All are 1st or 2nd stop in Brooklyn, 15-20 min. from midtown Manhattan. Go into the open Metrotech Commons—right across from the back of the Marriott. If you park on Flatbush, walk 2 blocks West past the Chase Bank building into the open Commons; the student center (Wunsch Hall) is at the near side of the Commons, looks like an old brown church. JACK LANGSTAFF; Saturday, January 12th; 8pm

John 'Jack' Langstaff is, even at age 81, one of the great voices of traditional music, in every sense of those words. A genuine love of the old songs, and an understanding of the people from whom they came, radiates through Jack's singing. But in addition Jack is also a carrier of more than 65 years of the folk music and dance revival, and the people he has known and the places he has been and sung form a major part of the evolution of the revival to its present richness.

Jack was born in Brooklyn in 1920. He was already a soloist as a young boy soprano in church choir and had performed in major concerts before he was 12 years old. His parents both sang and had books of folk songs, principally Sharp's collections, in the home. Music gatherings with folk songs were a regular part of family life, and the earliest songs he remembers were sung to him in his bed by his mother.

Jack first heard the living tradition when a teacher took him down to the White Top Festival in North Carolina in 1934. He first came to Pinewoods Camp that same summer, and he started the first Folk Music Week in 1952, out of which grew the Pinewoods Club and so many of the folk societies that are now spreading the music far and wide. He has had a life-long career as an educator as well as a singer, and is a staunch advocate for the power of traditional music, dance, and movement in the growth of children. Through his teaching, his books, through Folk Music Week and the Revels, and through the countless people he has inspired, Jack, perhaps along with Pete Seeger, is probably more responsible for getting people, including many who have never heard of him, involved in the music than anyone alive.

It is perhaps unique among concert-trained singers to find someone who can bring the listener into the song and into the tradition in the way Jack can. He carries true magic in his performances. Jerry Epstein will accompany him on concertina, guitar, and piano. Bring your voices and be ready to sing.. You won't be able to resist.

AT: Advent Lutheran Church, Broadway & 93rd St. Members: $11, General Public $15, Seniors/limited income: $11, under 12 $6.

Free parking (Distinctive Parking, 51st between Lexington and 3rd Avenues; your church ticket is good until midnight)! Questions: Gail Harper 212-750-8977.

Eileen Pentel

Happy New Year! May this year prove to be a peaceful and joyous one, with memories to cherish of those who are no longer with us and with memories in the making of friends and family who will share the times ahead.

January brings us a new board-with some openings. If you are interested-don't be shy, call Joy Bennett and let her know you would like to work with us. Even if you are not on the board, there's plenty for everyone to do.

Come and enjoy the Atwater-Donnelly concert and workshop, Jack Langstaff in concert and the Sea Music Concert. There are also Sings and Jams and Open Mikes! Lots to do to start the year right! And don't forget it's not too late to register for our Fall Weekend.

Thank you to the volunteers who give their time to help us with our newsletter mailing. For the December Newsletter they were: Herb Feuerlicht, Isabel Goldstein, Suzanne Gottlieb, Anne Price, Marcus Tieman, and Don Wade who delivered the pages from the printer. Won't you join us on Tuesday January 29th and help mail out the February newsletter? (See page 4 for details.)

Thanks for being generous, reliable and cooperative. We couldn't have events like the Fall Fling without you!

VAUGHN RAMSEY WARD 1939 - 2001

The Club mourns the passing of a friend almost from our beginning, and a leading light in New York State folklore. Vaughn Ward died early in December after a battle with cancer. She was 62. Coming from a white, Methodist, rather uniform milieu in Oklahoma and New Mexico, Vaughn became fascinated with the ethnic diversity to be found in New York State. A real mover and shaker, Vaughn made things happen in the preservation of customs, stories, and songs, producing festivals, conferences, books, and written documents of all kinds which featured the people from the ethnic communities telling their own story for their own community, but to all of us as well. She was a tireless champion for the importance of the old ways, and she understood how critical it was to show to the communities themselves that their customs were a treasure to be kept and should be a source of pride. She also developed a program in which young people would collect the traditions from their own communities, gaining thereby a respect for the old people and their ways that could not be communicated by words from an outsider. She is survived by her husband George, a fine musician, singer and songwriter, and by two sons, Peter and Nathaniel. Our hearts go out to them.
