New Ballard's Branch Bogtrotters; house concert in Suffern, NY Sat., March 15th; Pot luck 6pm, Concert 7:30, tunes to follow

In the mid 1980's a group of musicians from the Galax, VA area formed The New Ballard's Branch Bogtrotters who took their name, in part from the original Bogtrotters of the 1930's and also because band leader Dennis Hall lives on Ballard's Branch. Like the original Bogtrotters the current band specializes in hard driving dance tunes, and mountain ballads that have been handed down to them by their predecessors. Rounding out the Bogtrotters lineup are: Eddie Bond on Fiddle, Dennis Hall on guitar, Josh Ellis with clawhammer banjo, Jesse Morris on Bass and Leon Frost on mandolin. The New Ballard's Branch Bogtrotters remain a leading force in carrying the traditional music of the Virginia/Carolina Blue Ridge into the new millennium. Winners of Galax Old Fiddlers Convention Band Contest too many times to count. Their website: www.reverbnation.com/newballardsbranch-bogtrotters. Don't miss this rare appearance!

She has recorded 23 solo albums and participated directly in more than a hundred others. Peggy lived in England for 35 years with singer and songmaker Ewan MacColl. The couple was instrumental in the U.K. folk revival in the sixties. She currently resides in Oxford, England.

We have a rare opportunity to see her live at 8:00pm on Friday, March 28th. Peggy will perform both traditional songs and her own compositions, such as Gonna Be an Engineer. Her career as a musician and political and social activist spans more than five decades in the U.K. and the U.S.

From the Editor

Eileen Pentel

This has been a hard winter where the cold and the snow were the least of it. We lost a number of good friends, David Kleiman, Marcus Tieman, Pete Seeger to name a few. By the time you get this newsletter, we hope that spring will have arrived and happier events will have occurred. There are some remembrances in this newsletter and I am sure that there will be more in future issues. For me, as long as we remember our friends and relatives who have passed, a part of them will always be alive. It is also a reminder to cherish and enjoy those we care about while they are still here.

Music has always been one way to ease sorrow, bring joy and share good times with each other. This month there will a Pete Seeger Memorial Sing, our Old-Time Music Jams, the Folk Open Sing, and the Shanty Sing. The New Ballard's Branch Bogtrotters will be performing in Suffern. We are pleased that we are able to have Peggy Seeger in concert, whom we have wanted to perform for us. A special treat will be a wonderful workshop by Peggy on "The Image of Women in Anglo-American Traditional Song". There is limited space for the workshop, so sign up quickly.

Thank you to the volunteers who mail out our newsletter, Betsy Mayer, Isabel Goldstein, Marilyn Suffet, Don Wade and Eileen Pentel. Marcus, we will miss you. The next mailing will be on Thursday, March 27th. Come and join us sometime! See page 3.

Our "Legends" series

Thanks to a generous bequest from long-time member Al Cadwallader, we are working on bringing to New York some of the folk legends of our time.

To date, we've had bluesman Danny Kalb; Scottish legend Archie Fisher; and the New Boys of Old New York: Jeff Davis and Dave Ruch.

And of course we will be honoring Pete Seeger in various events.

Upcoming; we have Peggy Seeger on March 28 and 29; John Roberts and Tony Barrand on May 2, and Bob Walser on June 10 and 11. We're hoping for John McCutcheon on July 18.

So do please come to these concerts - and bring your friends and relations. The performers we are booking are those who brought many of us into folk music in the first place. Remember when you first heard them, and what that music has meant to you over the years.

Suggestions for others in the series are welcome.

The Folk Process

by Ruth Lipman

We are saddened by the death of Pete Seeger—a major influence upon the folk music revival, political activist, environmentalist. Pete died on January 27th. He was 94 years old. “To everything there is a season,” he sang. His was a fruitful one.

Another very sad passing: Marcus Tieman died in February, just before our club’s Winter Weekend. The funeral was in Atlanta, Georgia. His brother, Nathan, said that Marcus’ membership in the folk music club was important to him. Marcus loved the club; it brought much pleasure to his life. Marcus, you were important to all of us. We remember you with affection.

Condolences may be sent to:

Nathan Tieman and family, 2667 Varner Drive, Atlanta, GA 30345

If members wish to make charitable contributions in Marcus’ memory, Nathan suggests a donation to the Folk Music Society of New York or a charity of their choice.

Jason Price (son of Anne and Wayne Price) has a job working for Bento Box Animation Studios in Atlanta, Georgia. He will be animating the second season of the series, “The Awesomes,” about superhero rejects, available on Hulu.com. Congratulations Jason and best of luck in your new venture.

Gail Levine-Fried writes to us about her major milestone birthday celebration. “At her birthday party, her husband Bob Fried surprised her by announcing that he had arranged a trip to Grand Canyon followed by two weeks in Hawaii, places Gail had always wanted to see. The couple rode in vintage cars on the historic Grand Canyon Railway, a ride that featured musicians playing tunes of the West and even included a stage-coach ‘train robbery.’ They stayed overnight at a hotel in Grand Canyon. Bob got us up before dawn to walk out to the South Rim to see the first rays of the sun reflecting off the face of the cliffs—a glorious sight in spite of the cold wind. After three days in Grand Canyon and two days visiting with family in Phoenix, they flew into Honolulu Airport where Bob had arranged a traditional lei greeting. Highlights of their week on Oahu included sunrise and sunset walks along Waikiki, slow dancing on the beach at sunset, a moving visit to Pearl Harbor, seeing an eloquent performance of Hula at the Bishop Museum and a day visiting the campus of the University of Hawaii at Manoa where Pres. Obama’s mother had been a student. Since Gail and Bob are both college professors, they felt right at home. On “Big Island” (Hawaii), Bob and Gail, who practice yoga daily, spent 3 days at a Yoga/Spiritual Retreat Center (Kalani).

They had a special tour of Volcanoes National Park. The guide, Ehulani, a native Hawaiian Kahuna (healer) and Hula teacher, performed a ceremony and chant to honor Pele, the Fire Goddess at the edge of the crater of Kileaua, an active volcano. He taught Gail and Bob how to prepare special offerings to Pele using healing herbs and wrapping them in Ti leaf packets. A memorable experience was witnessing Ehulani chant and perform a sacred Hula next to the crater followed by Bob and Gail dancing at the edge of the smoking crater, tossing in their offerings and chanting ‘The Shehecheyanu’ (a Hebrew blessing). From two sacred traditions, the forces of Nature were honored. They ended their visit with 5 days on the Kona Coast at Keohoe Bay. They had many opportunities to do Hula dancing in Hawaii and want to thank Evy Mayer for stimulating their interest in Hawaiian dance and music!”

Aloha to all.

Marcus Tieman RIP

Marcus passed away suddenly in February. We found out about it on the Winter Weekend. Marcus was a mainstay for our mailings and always played chauffeur for weekends and other events. He was one of the most concerned and caring people I know. We will miss him. Below are some memories. Also Ruth Lippman's column has more thoughts and information.

-Eileen Pentel

I was saddened and shocked to hear of the passing of Marcus Tieman. I met Marcus at the very first weekend I attended at Camp Freeman, close to 25 years ago. As a new member, I was feeling a bit shy in this large, vibrant crowd of people who all seemed to have known each other for decades. Marcus, ever observant, introduced himself and welcomed me to Pinewoods; and then spent quite some time making sure I would feel welcome. He always lent a hand to any person he knew, and to any organization he was involved with. He will be missed by many, and those who were lucky enough to count him as a friend will mourn the loss of his kind and gentle presence. In the language of the faith to which he was quietly and passionately devoted- he was a mensch.

-Louise Luger

Pete Seeger -presente! on Facebook.

Chicago folksinger Kristin Lems created the Pete Seeger -presente! group on Facebook so people who admired Pete Seeger can share tributes, thoughts, memories, photos, and links. Any Facebook subscriber is welcome to join. Here is the URL:

<http://www.facebook.com/groups/698522910169553/704742959547548/>

The word presente is Spanish for present. The name of this group comes from the Latin American tradition of speaking the name of a departed loved one followed by presente as a way of saying that the person's spirit is still here with us.

Some Memories And Thoughts From Members About Pete Seeger

I just heard that Pete Seeger passed away at the venerable age of 94. There's not a one of us who sing or love music who don't owe a debt to him, as a singer, songwriter, song leader and songcatcher for his inspiration, and for being a socially active leader and an aware and brave soul.

My finest experience onstage was probably when I was part of a chorus backing him up for a benefit concert a few years ago. I thought I'd reached heaven as he led us in song in an unrehearsed medley of his "hits"- not one of us missed a note. I also was probably at the first (or one of them) of his Clearwater Concerts when he landed his boat on the scruffy shores of the Hudson at a splintered pier on the Albany docks.

-Louise Luger

I first met Peter Seeger in 1948 when I was the volunteer office boy at the offices of People Songs. At one point he had me type up one of the chapters of the manuscript of his book How to Play the 5 String Banjo. We both belonged to Margot Mayo's "American Square Dance Group." I was the caller and he played banjo while Margot played the piano.

I probably attended, backstage, every concert and hootenanny where Pete and Woody played in 1948 and 1949. I was on the bus sitting next to Pete going to the Paul Robeson concert in Peekskill in 1949. When he built his log cabin in Beacon, NY, I was one of the group of fans that showed up to help him.

-Bob Krebs

Marion Wade, an active Club member, long gone but well remembered, once said to me, "Each time an old person dies it's like a library burning down. I was fortunate to have Pete actively in my life because of my round singing, which is a good way to get folks singing, and that, of course, was Pete's goal as well.

There were many facets to his life, primarily an activist, always involved in issues of peace, justice, human rights, free speech, the environment, and more, using music as a tool to help address those issues. A consummate musician and great singer/songwriter, using "the power of song" (the title of the recent film about him) so effectively, some written by him, or re-shaped.

Pete was a supportive, accessible, approachable, person, always ready to help aspiring young performers with words of encouragement, plus solid, practical advice. Many's the time I'd phone him on some matter or other, and breaking away would often be difficult as Pete would cheerfully expound at great length on whatever was of interest that day!

I first met him when, as a teen, I was working as a "page" in my local Bronx public library. A brand new unknown group, The Weavers, came in to give a concert up on the second floor. The audience consisted of four patrons, so all available employees, myself included, were drafted to swell the numbers. It was fantastic. They sang their hearts out as if we were thousands strong, and afterwards we all chatted.

I was happy to include him in the Rounds Galore book, which also includes a neat round by his musicologist father (plus, toward the back, a Magic Square celebrating one of his birthdays.)

And, as part of the Clearwater Revival festivities, it was a blast to share the stage with him (along with your Club President Evy Mayer) to lead the huge crowd in a 3 part round, a lively favorite of the Seeger family. (See photo.)

We went up to his mountaintop home to interview him for Evy's third Rounds Galore & More CD. It was a pleasant visit, Toshi feeding us soup, Pete talking, singing, telling anecdotes. His charming homebuilt house includes a small bathroom with a tiny picture window overlooking the Hudson River valley, and it has a wooden toilet seat.

We'll never forget him, this unique gent whose like we'll never see again, 94 remarkable years, a life well lived. R.I.P., Pete, unless you're busy shaping up those angel choirs.
