Mount Prospect Park, Brooklyn. (Rain Dates TBA). A casual song-circle that has been meeting outdoors to minimize covid19 risk. The park is between the Brooklyn Central Library and The Brooklyn Museum on Eastern Parkway. Entry to the park is next to the gates of the Brooklyn Botanical Garden, at the Eastern Parkway stop of the 2/3 train. We'll be in the far south-east corner, or on the lawn, near the back of the park--Look for our banner. We recommend you bring a folding chair, cushion or blanket to sit on, as bench space is limited. Restrooms are available in the park and the Museum Lobby. We plan for the second Saturday each month, depending on the weather send a message to parksongcircle\(at\)yahoo.comyahoo.com) to get updates if we must cancel or reschedule. †

Summer is officially here and with it is our July/August issue. Note it is a 2 month issue. You might want to save this newsletter. We also have a fabulous, newly designed website. We hope you like it. It is still the same link (FMSNY.org). Thank you, Jules and Lafayette. (see more below).

There is plenty of music during the summer, including the Port Jefferson Sea Shanty & Maritime Festival. TradMad Camp is also happening. It is currently full, but you can register and get on the waiting list. See pages 2 and 3 for this and all of our usual and new events. And be sure to look for the details of our Fall Weekend. Redone FMSNY Website!

Hey, check it out! On behalf of the Board of the Folk Music Club of New York, I am thrilled to announce that the FMSNY website has been completely redesigned. Besides being beautiful, the new website is clean and easy to navigate. I want to thank two of our Board members, Lafayette Matthews and Jules Peiperl, for all the work they did to create our fresh, new website. And I especially want to thank Board members Don Wade and Heather Wood, who first created our website back in the digital dark ages of the 1990s, and who have diligently maintained the website for nearly 30 years. Please check it out and let us know what you think.

The Folk Process

by Ruth Lipman

Mark and Rita Hamburg continue to travel extensively. In December 2022 they were in Australia on a wildlife viewing tour. It took them to six national parks on Kangaroo Island in South Australia, the Great Ocean Road in Victoria and Tasmania. They saw numerous animals including kangaroos, wallabies, koalas, wombats, echidnas, sea lions, emus, cockatoos, magpies, padamelons, Tasmanian devils (in captivity), quolls, and opossums. In addition, this voyage to the southern hemisphere allowed them to view the iconic constellation, the Southern Cross. On another venture during the winter they took their son and grandchildren to Joshua Tree National Park in California.

As for yours truly, I have been working out with a trainer at the gym. Although pumping iron is not a customary activity for me, I keep trying and it appears that something resembling a mini-bicep may be emerging
